

COLVILLE
COMMUNITY HEALTH TRUST

The Health Trust is busy these days. End of financial year paperwork, new funding rounds beginning, and a new fundraising season already underway. Our catering event in March raised $960 for The Colville Project. A huge thank you to all involved...Tellic Evans for dropping the opportunity in the Trust's lap, the motocross enthusiasts who took part, the Health Trust trustees who volunteered their time, supplies and delicious baking, Dr Kate and Richard who hosted, and the local businesses who supported us with donations of food and drinks. These include Pak n Save Thames, the Four Square and the butcher in Coromandel, the Colville General Store and the Hereford n a Pickle.

In the next Panui we can report on how we did at the Anzac Day breakfast. For now I can announce that we will be having our usual table at the Queen's Birthday Weekend Colville Market, with a great selection of bargains and some raffles. Money raised at events like these helps us support the health services provided at the Colville Community Health Centre - including the clinic, Colville Rural Nursing, St John Prime, and all visiting health providers and trainee doctors. So we are very grateful for the enthusiastic support we receive from this community. Thank you!
